#TogetherSeparately Lung cancer community

Lung Cancer Community Talks are livestream forums where participants can hear from guest experts including leading oncologists, psychologists, and lung cancer researchers. Learn more and register for upcoming programs: LCRF.org/togetherseparately

Our Facebook Group grew out of the live talks. This private group is a place to ask questions and share day-to-day experiences with lung cancer. New members are welcome to join the community: LCRF.org/facebookcommunity

Free educational materials

LCRF provides up-to-date, credible information on diagnosis, treatment, and what to expect from treatment through our free educational materials – including tools to help facilitate discussions between patients and their healthcare teams..

Materials are available in both digital download and print format. Shipping is free to U.S. addresses. Scan the code at right to order online, or visit: LCRF.org/resources

Lung cancer support line

(844) 835-4325 | support@LCRF.org

Our toll-free number is available to anyone who needs support related to lung cancer and is available Monday-Friday between 9 AM - 5 PM ET. We can provide resource guides to help navigate the uncertainties that come with living with lung cancer – financial assistance, transportation or lodging for medical appointments, and much more.
